

ATTENTION, GUAM'S CORALS NEED YOUR HELP!

Photos Courtesy of David Burdick

Have you seen Crown of Thorns Starfish on Guam's reefs?

How You Can Help

- Report sightings if you see multiple Crown of Thorns Starfish while diving or snorkeling. Use the following link <https://eormarianas.org/quick-report/> or the QR codes below and link to the Eyes of the Reef Quick Report to document the size, number, location
- Upload photos if available
- Stayed Tuned for training opportunities to join our Citizen Science Team for rapid response to C.O.T.S outbreaks. Use the following link <https://forms.gle/4t5xr7c5fkYsGp6AA> or QR code below to join our contact list for updates on how to apply to join training sessions.

Please Do NOT

- Stab, cut, or attempt to kill COTS
- Move or remove COTS
- Try to inject COTS without proper training

Stressed or injured COTS can spawn releasing millions of eggs, starfish can regenerate from remaining pieces of an individual, and disturbing any sea life in a Marine Preserve is illegal without proper permits.

Scan to report
COTS
sightings

Scan to upload
photos

Scan to Join
contact list

@guamcotsteam

Save paper – Take a photo with your phone